

ECHOGRAPH 1093

Description

Multichannel Ultrasound Electronics For Compact UT Systems

Based on its modular design the ultrasound electronics ECHOGRAPH 1093 is particularly flexible. With the aid of separately working testing channels and their individual set-up it is suitable for small automated testing systems targeted at easy realization of different inspection tasks, like testing for longitudinal flaws, transverse flaws and lamination flaws in tubes.